

Mechanical & Electrical Engineer

To be a key team member of the Engineer Design team in Spain, providing input and support to Engineering function with layout design, data analysis and presentation materials. To work with Colleagues from Spain and Austria (and other European Countries as dictated by each project) and to develop your skills and knowledge as you progress.

Key Responsibilities

- Development of concepts and warehouse layouts for automation in Intralogistics projects (CAD Layouts)
- Analysis and optimization of logistical processes in collaboration with customers, suppliers and internal stakeholders.
- Preparation of solution proposals, calculations and offer presentations
- Data analysis and strategic system development
- Customer consulting

Your profile

- Degree (or equivalent) in one of the following:
 - Mechanical Engineer
 - Industrial Engineer
 - Logistics and supply chain management
- Analytical skills
- Advanced CAD skills
- Interdisciplinary interests
- Team player
- Strong communication, creative and innovative
- Experience in the intralogistics field is an advantage
- English spoken and written. German is an advantage
- Prepared to travel

Our offer

- A rewarding work environment in an international company
- To be part of our subsidiary in Spain, with offices in Barcelona and Madrid
- Use your know-how and personal skills in cooperation with your colleagues in Spain and Austria to start your carrier
- A training period in Austria (Graz) of approximately XX weeks
- Salary according to the candidate's experience

